Pushing the Boundaries

U.S. sparkling wine producers add innovative bottlings to the lineup

By Tim Fish ■ Dec 31, 2021

Sparkling wine in America is not the rarefied experience it used to be—and that's a very good thing. Producers across the country are perfecting traditional methods and experimenting with pét-nats. Get Wine Spectator senior editor Tim Fish's full report, plus his scores and tasting notes on top wines and top values.

DOMAINE CARNEROS.
By TAITTINGER

A relative bargain within the top wines comes from winemaker Zak Miller at Domaine Carneros, whose Brut Carneros 2017 (92, $33) offers precise lemon, ginger and strawberry flavors.
