Bloomberg

The Best 50 Wines Under $50, 2019 Edition

After a year of sipping and swirling, a wine critic finds a whole constellation of new stars—ranging from cheap, fun fizz to exotic unfamiliar grapes.

By Elin McCoy   December 13, 2019

Every year I sample thousands of wines, and I'm always on the hunt for great bargain bottles. Happily, I found more delicious and affordable wines than ever in 2019. Where to look for the best buys?

veramonte

2017 Veramonte Pinot Noir

It's hard to find any wine worth drinking for this price, much less a pinot noir. This scented, fruity example from Chile's cool Casablanca Valley is a great party pour. ($11)